Harmony Day
People from many different countries live in Australia. Harmony Day lets us share our different cultures and get to know each other better. Harmony Day celebrates all the things that Australians from many different backgrounds have achieved.

The orange ribbon is a symbol of how we live together in harmony and respect people from many different countries.

Children whose families have come from different countries can come to school on Harmony Day in their national costume. Other students can wear clothes that are orange. The SCC have a stall outside the canteen and they sell many orange harmony day merchandise.
